The Darjeeling brothers pray for a good review from OK! magazine.

The Darjeeling Limited Owen Wilson, Adrien Brody (20th Century Fox)

Indie director Wes Anderson's latest film doesn't live up to expectations. Colorful and typically quirky, this tale of three brothers trying to connect on a journey through India is lovely to watch, but overweening.

Beowulf Angelina Jolie, Crispin Glover (Paramount)

A slick CGI version of the classic poem, this Beowulf has star power. It's a fun flick, but not for the kids — it's quite violent at times, and a CGI Angelina appears naked! Also available in an unrated director's cut.

30 Days of Night Josh Hartnett, Melissa George (Sony)

Adapted from a graphic novel, this is one scary flick! The sheriff of a small Alaskan town (Hartnett) encounters a challenge during a month of darkness — vampires!

Perfect Strangers — The Complete First and Second Seasons

Mark Linn-Baker,
Bronson Pinchot
(Warner Home Video)

Two words: Balki Bartokomous!

The Mypos shepherd (Pinchot) moves in with his cousin

(Linn-Baker) in Chicago and the hilarity begins! Catch all 28 episodes on the four-disc set.

The Smurfs: Season One, Vol. One (Turner Home Entertainment)

Hanna-Barbera fave The Smurfs is on DVD! The little blue creatures battle Gargamel and live peacefully in their village in 19 episodes (on two discs, plus bonus features). ★★★★★

Larry and Balki are back!

MUSIC

Janet Jackson Discipline (Island)

41-year-old Janet tries again for a comeback with another slick, overly sexy disc. Lyrics featuring S&M and Sidekick references only age her. Tone it down, Janet.

Dolly Parton Backwoods Barbie (Dolly Records)

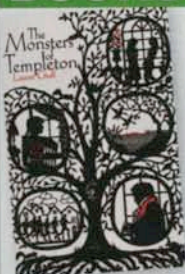

Country icon Dolly is back with a mainstream album featuring catchy tunes like the radio-friendly "Better Get to Livin'." You'd better get this album!

Erykah Badu New AmErykah: Part One (Universal Motown)

The funky four-time Grammy winner presents a soulful album worth a listen. Try "Honey."

BOOKS

The Monsters of Templeton Lauren Groff (Hyperion)

A curious read about the history and residents of fictional Templeton, N.Y. Willie Upton returns to Templeton and discovers that her previously unknown father lives in town.

Losing It Valerie Bertinelli (Free Press)

Dieting motivation abounds in Bertinelli's memoir, in which she tells of her recent stint with Jenny Craig, her marriage to Eddie Van Halen, and life as a single mom.

Rap-Up Cameron and Devin Lazerine (Grand Central Publishing)

This guide gives you everything you need to know about the genre with history, battles, profiles on "the new new school" and more.

The First Patient Michael Palmer (St. Martin's Press)

Palmer's latest thriller straddles the worlds of politics and medicine. Gabe Singleton discovers his college pal and patient — and the president — is going insane.
